2026 AILA Midwinter Conference and Webcast

Escape the cold at the 2026 AILA Midwinter Conference and Webcast in sunny Guanacaste, Costa Rica! Sharpen your skills while warming up on the beach or by the pool. This year's conference features an advanced-level Business Track and an advanced-level Removal Track. The expert panelists for these sessions will discuss the latest developments in the ever-changing world of immigration law and advise on best practices for dealing with them. Highlights of the Business Track include panels on NIVs and E visas, while the Removal Track features sessions on detention and humanitarian issues. As always, your registration includes recordings of both tracks. Come network and learn with your colleagues as we enjoy everything Costa Rica has to offer!

 - What lies ahead
- 9:30 am – 10:00 am Networking Break
- 10:00 am – 11:00 am Complex Consular Issues for NIV Applicants
Although securing an appointment or preparing a client for an upcoming interview may have seemed straightforward in the past, nonimmigrant visa (NIV) processing has become increasingly more difficult, and clients risk being turned away by security for their appointment. Our experts will discuss tips and tricks on securing appointments, anticipating potential pitfalls, and troubleshooting case problems.
- Securing appointments: setting expectations, recommending locations, and submitting emergency requests
 - Everchanging process requirements: passport changes, booking profiles, reciprocity changes, interview waiver and other documentation
 - Demystifying the DS-160: understanding when to submit, when a new DS-160 is necessary, and what to do if the information changes
 - Navigating complex scenarios: helping visa applicants from India, China, Russia, Iran, and other locations
 - NIV applications: determining likelihood for approval

- Interplay with removal defense: NTAs issued with denials

12:30 pm – 1:30 pm Lunch (Provided)

1:30 pm – 2:30 pm E2 and EB-5 Investor Programs

One would think that programs enabling foreign investors to enter the United States to create jobs would be straightforward and not face undue pushback. But the reality is different under the Trump administration. So, is it still good business to invest in the United States? Experts will discuss the latest challenges in the E-2 and EB-5 investor visa practices, with an additional focus on consular trends.

- The effects of DOS resource reductions on the timing and quality of visa processing and appointments
- How the sharing of information between the IRS, DOS, ICE, and USCIS can lead to surprise RFEs or worse
- The state of play with EB-5 grandfathering expiring in less than nine months
- Legislative, regulatory, and judicial updates: What exactly is the law right now?
- Is a gold card or something else on the horizon?

2:30 pm – 3:00 pm Networking Break

3:00 pm – 4:00 pm But, I Am in Status! The Brave New World of Maintaining Status

Trump 2.0 is focusing on taking legal status away from those who have it. Throughout the past year, the administration has positioned itself to deny NIV petitions and adjustment of status applications based on a new interpretation and enforcement of the maintenance of status rules. Panelists will explore those changes and how they are affecting both NIV visa holders and adjustment of status applicants.

- Alien registration, change of address, remote work, amended NIV petitions
- Is a period of authorized stay or a grace period sufficient to maintain status?
- What is the effect of an employer notifying USCIS that an NIV holder is no longer employed? How is this impacting H-1B portability?
- Special considerations regarding maintenance of status for those in F-1 or J-1 status
- How are maintenance of status issues affecting AOS applicants?
- Duration of status, maintaining status, CPT
